

Eric Hauth Managing Director

Eric Hauth is the managing director of The Bolton Group, LLC, an executive development firm headquartered in Minneapolis. Eric assists successful executives in: reinventing how they lead, becoming exceptional leaders and achieving remarkable results. He shows top executive teams how to reinvent so they achieve extraordinary performance and win.

Eric brings deep experience in assessment and leadership development initiatives, having launched and directed an award-winning leadership institute for physicians from across the U.S. and around the globe, as well as directing leadership institutes in the medical technology and education arenas.

Eric has coached senior corporate executives, non-profit leaders and board of directors to become their best.

Previously, Eric also built and ran a successful coalition of corporate, including Fortune 500 medical device manufacturers Boston Scientific, Medtronic and St. Jude Medical.

With a career that includes work with both industry leaders and large-scale non-profit organizations, including extensive work with boards of directors, Eric brings to this work a unique combination of experience and expertise to help others perform at their best, both individually and collectively.

Eric holds graduate degrees in economics and political science from the University of Minnesota and the University of California-Riverside, respectively. He resides in the Twin Cities with his wife, Rebecca, and teenage twins.
